

San Miguel County Land Heritage Program

Heritage: Landscape, Wildlife, Agriculture, Stewardship, Lifestyle

What Is The Land Heritage Program?

- A private landowner wants to preserve his land and get some equity from it
- A party interested in land preservation steps in and purchases a conservation easement from the landowner
- The easement defines how the land is protected
- The landowner keeps their land (minus the development rights)
- The conservation easement binds the current and future owners
- The purchaser of the development rights retires them....they're gone.

Program Goals

- Protect open space and reward resource management
- Provide an alternative way for landowners to take equity out of their land
- Reduce estate taxes
- Encourage viable agriculture
- Encourage protection of wildlife habitat and riparian areas
- Protect the natural beauty so vital to the regional economy

How It Works in San Miguel County

- Voluntary
- Interested landowners provide sealed bids once a year or as advertised
- Bids are selected on “value”
 - Most bang for the buck
 - Degree to which additional criteria are met
- Landowner
 - Keeps their land
 - Implements a conservation easement with the land trust of their choice
 - Gets $ from the County
 - County retires the development rights

Who Can Participate?

- Private landowners in the County with development rights to sell
- Land must be in one of the mapped areas
 - CDOW mapped wildlife area, CNHP natural areas, TNC Southern Rocky Mountains or Colorado Plateau Ecoregional Assessment Maps
 - County riparian maps (major tributaries of the San Miguel and Dolores Rivers)
 - Traditional agricultural lands of 100 acres or greater

Selection Criteria

- Land is on one of the previous maps
- Land is in San Miguel County
- Value (bang for the buck)
 - Competing with other landowners for limited funds
 - The purchase price can't exceed the appraised market value
 - The difference between the value of the conservation easement and the market value is considered a donation and is good for a tax deduction and Colorado tax credit

- Urgency
- Parcel size
- Buffers public or protected lands
- Commitment to agriculture
- Public access or public recreational opportunities
- Commitment to resource management best practices
- Protection of historic structures or archaeological sites

Bids don't have to meet all of the criteria

Funding

- In 2000, the program had $600,000 of which $400,000 came from Great Outdoors Colorado, $100,000 from the County and $100,000 in private donations.
- In 2001, the voters passed a 1.5 mill levy that now provides approximately $300,000 a year as program match money for the Land Heritage Program.

Funding Summary

- To date, 13,497 acres protected at a purchase price of $6,867,273.
- Source of the funding
 - $3,784,756. - GOCO
 - $3,100,284. – County open space & rec mill levy
 - $1,336,530. from other sources including The Nature Conservancy and the Telluride Foundation
- Transactions cost - $504,978.
- Donated value of the transactions - $11,709,454.
- 24 projects, 13 landowners

Who Decides?

- A review committee composed of
 - Open Space Commission members
 - A representative of the County Commissioners
 - A member of the public
- Review committee makes selections based on applications from landowners and site visits
- County Commissioners sign off
- All applications kept in confidence
- Awarded applications become public

- Criteria driven
 - Allows selection of the most worthy projects
 - Provides powerful incentive for responsible land stewardship
 - Less subjective

Administration

- County role is to catalyze conservation easements
 - County doesn't hold the easements
 - County doesn't write the easements
 - County is not signatory to the easements
 - County writes the GOCO grants
 - County administers the GOCO grants
 - County provides match funding
 - County facilitates and coordinates the closings
